

Iowa Veterans Cemetery
Missing In America Project
April 24, 2009

The Missing in American Project identified seven remains that had not been claimed by family members. Project coordinator, Bill Lauchlan (pictured above left), led an escort of over 500 motorcycles from a funeral home in Knoxville, Iowa to the Iowa Veterans cemetery to honor the fallen heroes.

The four military services represented by the seven veterans await to be called to ceremonially unfurl, refold, and present the burial flag to four veterans. The flags were later donated to the cemetery to be flown on the Avenue of Flags lining the entrance of the Iowa Veterans Cemetery.
